I'm a backend developer based in Ho Chi Minh with 2 years of experience in the software industry. I enjoy experimenting with new technology and incorporate into my workflow when appropriate. I'm always interested in becoming a better technology nerd and meeting interesting people. I am able to quickly learn any new technology or skill as required, and thrive on an environment full of new and difficult challenges. I'm very passionate about the software I create. My motivation is the success of products and business growth.
